Eagles Are Honored At Assembly

An Appreciation and Recognition Assembly was held Monday in honor of the Canyon Eagles Basketball Team who won 2nd place in the state basketball tournament in Austin last week.

James E. Miller, principal of the high school, led the pledge of allegiance and introduced the program.

Coach Allen Simpson recognized each team member and gave the highlights of the state meet. Sideline on the state meet and the trip to Austin were given by Coach E. J. Webb.

Mrs. Betty Knighton, president of the Classroom Teachers Association, gave the opinion and congratulations from that group to the team and students.

"What it takes to produce a winning team" was discussed by Joe A. Gibson, superintendent of schools.

Delbert Lowes, Canyon mayor, described what the achievement has meant to our community.

Byrd Enters School Race

JoZach Byrd announced for the board of trustees of Canyon Independent School District Wednesday of last week bringing the field to five in contest for the two seats open.

Byrd is a farmer and longtime resident of Canyon.

Candidates or their representatives drew for places on the ballot Tuesday morning of this week.

Names of candidates will appear on the ballot in this order: Newton Crain, Walter Graham, JoZach Byrd, A. W. Lair and Bob Wear.

Election will be held April 6. Interest is higher in the school board election this year than at any time in recent years.

Election Judge Aubrey Crossland said 1500 ballots have been ordered. He said about 700 votes has been the top number cast in any election to date and the normal number is 300 to 400.

Eagles Second In Meet

BY TROY MARTIN

Canyon's Eagles coached by Allen Simpson wound up one of the greatest seasons in Canyon High School basketball history Saturday night.

They came within six points of the mighty Buna Cougars on the maplewood at Gregory gymnasium where a break or two could have handed them the state crown for 1963.

Canyon rolled into Austin last Thursday like a Panhandle blizzard and drifted over John Foster Dulles of Missouri City 75 to 39 with the reserves playing most of the fourth quarter.

Big Bob Begert poured in 25 points while Eddie Poole scored 15. Begert latched onto 21 rebounds during the initial contest.

Harry Lisle hit the hoop for 12 tallies.

But it wasn't the Vikings the Eagles went to Austin to meet. More than 1,000 Canyon fans waited tensely for Saturday night.

It was worth the wait.

Kirk Hill, sports writer from The Houston Post, hailed the Buna-Canyon game as one of the top three in the tournament. Jan Hruska of The Daily Texan described it as "one of the tournament's best."

Cotton Robinson, Buna mentor, had nothing but praise for the Eagle team following the contest.

"It's the toughest ball club we've met in a state tournament game since we played Bowie here in 1959," Robinson declared.

The Cougars defeated Bowie that year 53 to 48.

PHYLLIS ANN BANKS DIED HERE. The 19-month-old Lubbock child was ground to death on the pavement after the pickup truck in which she was a passenger ricocheted off a highway sign and overturned. The baby was believed to have been killed instantly. An unidentified man is shown here looking at the wreckage of the pickup.

Tot Dies In Accident, Murder Charges Filed

A 19-month-old Lubbock child was killed instantly Monday afternoon when the pickup truck in which she was a passenger struck a highway sign and overturned on Highway 87 4 miles south of Canyon.

Dead is Phyllis Ann Banks, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Banks, 19, Lubbock.

Charged in connection with the death is Walter Max Davis, 31, also of Lubbock. Davis still was being held in Randall County jail late Wednesday in lieu of $1500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson. Officers identified Davis as driver of the pickup truck. Highway Patrolman Gilbert Ray said Mrs. Banks and the baby were passengers in the vehicle.

Ray said several bottles of beer were found in the cab of the pickup truck.

The highway patrolman said tracks indicate that the pickup truck went off the left side of the highway, swerved to the right shoulder, hit a highway sign, swerved back to the pavement and rolled.

Ray said the baby was thrown from the cab and killed instantly. The man and woman remained in the vehicle.

The pickup had been traveling north. It came to rest about 165 feet from the sign post bottom side up and headed south.

Mrs. Banks and Davis were rushed to Nebbett Hospital in a LaGrone ambulance. Davis was kept over night for observation and then jailed on the murder charge.

Mrs. Banks suffered hand injuries. Her condition was described as good by hospital attendants Wednesday.

Body of the child was taken to Lubbock for funeral services and burial.

Hands Off Policy Is Advised For City In Sewer Road Squabble

Santa Fe Will Help Prevent Grass Fire

Santa Fe Railway Monday accepted responsibility for starting several fires along the railroad right of way and three company representatives pledged every effort to prevent further fires.

Appearing before Randall County commissioners court were Charlie Hertzog, Santa Fe trainmaster; A. C. Ricketts, road foreman of engines; and Lawrence Sankey, division special agent.

"We're willing to do everything we can," Hertzog told the court. "We'll burn off the right of way and put in fire guards."

Right of way usually is burned in the fall when dead vegetation is not so dry. Consensus Monday was that burning now would itself constitute a hazard.

Hertzog said the right of way was not burned last fall as an economy measure and conceded that this probably was a mistake.

Canyon firemen say some 40 fires have occurred along railroad right of way near Canyon in recent weeks. The Canyon Fire Department has made 15 calls and fought up to 10 separate fires each call.

Randall County pays Canyon, Happy and Amarillo $100 a call for rural fires. Happy has answered one right of way call and Amarillo, two, recently.

Grass Fires Still Harry City Firemen

Canyon volunteer fire department has been busy again. The Canyon volunteers answered 18 fire calls from March 1 to March 17.

Most serious of the calls was to the Bud Hickman dairy barn, March 1, one mile east of Canyon.

An overheated gas stove may have set the fire which destroyed the building and damaged $4000 to $6000 worth of newly installed stainless steel dairy equipment. No stock was in the building at the time although a large quantity of dairy feed was destroyed by the smoke and water.

Grass fires took much of the time and effort of the firemen. One such blaze, March 1, one mile south of Rockwell Road on the Santa Fe right-of-way, occupied the firemen for some time. Another grass fire in Canyon at 110 23rd Street was

Oberst Sow Is Prolific

Elmer Oberst III, thinks he has one of the best brood sows in the entire Panhandle ---and he may be right.

She gave birth to 18 pigs recently. Last year she raised 12. Of this year's litter, only a dozen remain. Four died and Elmer gave two pigs away.

Elmer says the only other brood sow more prolific, as far as he knows, is one owned by his dad several years ago. That one gave birth to 23 pigs in one litter.

City Dads Say Alley Stays Open

A dirt road at the southern edge of Canyon this week had jumped to prominence it never before had enjoyed in its 40 odd years of existence.

The road is known as the sewer plant road. It leads to the Tommy Hunter farm and to the Canyon sewerage disposal plant.

The road lies about a half block south of Thirteenth Avenue, which city commissioners say will remain an avenue. The road's north ditch and maybe a small part of the road are a part of a city alley.

Consensus of commissioners at a Monday night city commission meeting was that the alley will remain, regardless of the future status of sewer plant road.

A few weeks back, developers of Ponderosa Addition began laying Fourteenth Avenue. Some curb and gutter for the new avenue has extended into sewer plant road.

Objection to the closing of the road are Hosea Foster, Buddy and Jack Taylor, who own property at the corner of the road and Twenty-Third Street.

City Manager Bill York said the bulk of the road lies in Ponderosa Addition which has passed on the first reading for annexation to the city.

City Attorney A. W. Lair told commissioners Monday night that to annex the addition before the sewer plant road controversy is settled would amount to annexing trouble for the city.

"I'd say there's going to be litigation over it," Lair declared. "It's not a city problem until it's annexed."

Lair said the road question probably will be cleared up within the next 30 days, which is as soon as final action can be taken on annexation of the addition, anyway.

Joe Abbott appeared before the commission stating that he bought some property in Block 27 of the Conner Addition with water facilities alongside it.

He said he was unaware that the water line improvement constituted a claim against the property until he applied for a building permit and was told that he must pay the city $1.75 a foot for 100 feet of water line adjacent the property before he would be able to tap the line.

City officials contend that such a claim is valid and payable. (See CITY, Page 3)

Buff Spring Scrimmage Set Saturday Afternoon

BY MIKE MOON
It's that time again as the West Texas State football team begins its spring practice drills in preparation for the 1963 season.

Coach Joe Kerbel has plenty of material to work with as 92 candidates have reported for the drills. The first real look the public will have at the team will be 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon at Buffalo Bowl in the first of four spring practice scrimmages. There will be no admission charge.

Actually, the public will see over eight full teams butt heads against one another. Four eight-minute quarters will be played with teams one and three, two and four, five and seven, and six and eight squaring off against each other.

The varsity will be minus a mere seven players from the 1962 team which won nine, lost two, including annexing the 1962 Sun Bowl title. Six first team members are back and 10 off the second squad to provide Coach Kerbel with plenty of much-needed experience.

Twelve junior college players from various points of the country have joined the Herd along with some freshmen.

The tackle slot will be hardest to fill as four graduating seniors in the form of Bob Petrich, Dick Cunningham, Dick Lowery, and Dory Funk, Jr., however, John Varnell, a 6-4, 240-pounder and 6-5, 245-pound Wilton Manley are returnees and should be able to anchor the line very sufficiently. The fullback position will be stronger than ever with the addition of Bill Lorraine back into the roster. Lorraine played in 1961 and was the team's second top rusher with 454 yards on 90 carries for a 5.1 average per carry. Add to Lorraine the terrible twosome of Ollie Ross and Russ Mundy and the fullback position will leave little lacking for 1963.

Pistol Pete Pedro, the nation's sixth top rusher with an injured ankle at that, returns from the first team halfback with the nation's leading scorer in the form of Jerry Logan being lost to a diploma and a salary from the Baltimore Colts.

Both second team backs are back. Jerry Richardson, termed "the nation's best second-string halfback," and David McInturff return along with Jerry King, Woody Prude, and Earl West. Add to the halfbacks a number of junior college transfers and this position will be one of the best shapes it has ever.

Senior Corky Dawson who had called signals for West Texas three and one half seasons will step out of the picture with his position to be filled probably by Hoot Gibson, the prime candidate. There are eight candidates for the quarterback slot.

Another very solid place in the line will be right down the middle—at center. Charlie Daves and Doc Rowell will be returning as juniors along with Larry Patterson. Daves was an offensive standout at center in 1962 as Rowell was at the defensive center position.

Stu Johnson, 1961 All-Border Conference guard selection, is gone but starter Jack Mayfield is back along with Gene Baldwin and Jim Denny from the second team.

It's the same old story at the end slot—all returnees. There were no seniors at end so starters Jim Ostrander and Quinton Eppinette are back along with reserves Woody Gilliland, Benny George, George Allen, and Bruce Kimery—a converted guard. Allen is the giant of the team standing 6-8 and weighing close to 250 pounds.

In all of the pre-season commentaries concerning the 1962 West Texas football team, the Buffs were to have a very experienced backfield and a young inexperienced line. As it turned out, the backfield came through as expected and the linemen outdid all expectations.

Next year, however, pre-season indications have already got the Buffs of Coach Kerbel winning all nine season games and drawing an invitation to a top ball game. Another factor to consider is that athletic director Frank Kimbrough went out of his way almost in drawing a top nine-game schedule for 1963 -- including six home games.

Hooter Has Big Rep From Sun Bowl Tilt

BY MIKE MOON
With a difficult reputation to live up to, David (Hoot) Gibson steps into the limelight as the prime candidate to lead the 1963 version of the West Texas State Buffalo football squad.

This difficult reputation came as a result of one of the most unusual plays ever seen on a football field. This refers, naturally, to the Sun Bowl spectacular where Gibson evaded six tacklers in a 20-yard backward jump before unleashing a pass good for a 40-yard touchdown sprint by Jerry Richardson that won the 1962 Sun Bowl game for the Buffs over Ohio University, 15-14.

Previous to the Sun Bowl, however, Hoot had already been involved in several triple handoff razzle-dazzle plays that delighted the crowd. If Gibson can't hand-off or pass the ball, he has proven to be quite adept to writhing his way through the enemy lines.

Gibson, who wears the familiar No. 11, will be playing his last year for Coach Joe Kerbel's Buffs but has seen a great deal of experience in the line of quarterbacking. Hoot started calling signals back when he was in the fifth grade elementary school at Odessa, his home town.

In his 11th year of leading grid groups, Gibson stands 6-0, weighs 180, and is a physical education major. In his senior year at Odessa High, Gibson led his team to a tie for district honors and was the all-around top squad member on the team. Also at Odessa, Hoot lettered in basketball and baseball, winning a total of five varsity letters in all sports.

Gibson's crazy antics aren't limited to the football field it seems, as he was observed arriving at a dormitory last year

Buff Linkmen Begin Season At Amarillo

Coach Huelyn Laycock's 1963 West Texas State golf team got its season underway last Wednesday afternoon against Panhandle A&M and will meet New Mexico State in a dual match at the Amarillo Country Club March 15-16 in season openers.

The Buffalo linksmen for 1963 are Monty Sherrod, Jimmy Holmes, Jimmy Hodo, and Bob Condren. These golfers constitute the main foursome with Don Gardner, Gary Stanfield, and John Mack as the reserves.

A full schedule is on tap for the linksmen with a lot of traveling included. The results on the Panhandle A&M - WT match were unavailable at press time as the match was held at the Amarillo Country Club last Wednesday afternoon.

New Mexico State will meet the Buffs at 1:30 p.m. Friday and at 9 a.m. Saturday at the ACC course for a dual duel. The following weekend, the WT foursome travels to Las Cruces for a triangular match with the Aggies and Texas Western on Friday. Then, on Saturday, the three teams meet once again only this time on the Miners home grounds in El Paso.

Eastern New Mexico University is next on the slate for West Texas at the ACC course 1:30 p.m. March 28. Texas Western follows two days later on the same course, same time. The Oklahoma Intercollegiate Golf Tournament at Shawnee will pit the skill of the West Texas golfers against those of several states. The intercollegiate meet is to be held April 4-5-6.

Shade On Way To Palo Duro

Palo Duro Canyon State Park manager Buddy Hoskins said "shade is on its way to the Palo Duro Canyon."

Hoskins and his crew are planting 25 American elm shade trees around various places in the 15,000 acre park to landscape the entrance grounds and to add shade for park visitors.

The trees are being planted at the entrance to the park, around the various park buildings and at Observation Point near the entrance to the park.

The trees also are being planted around the newly located horse corrals down in the canyon.

Hoskins said the American elm trees will make plenty of good shade for park visitors in just a few years. He said the trees they planted this week should grow to 20 feet within five years.

Park visitors appreciate shade in the deeply eroded canyon park—especially in the heat of summer, Hoskins said.

"As far as I know, there haven't been any trees planted in this part of Palo Duro Canyon since Col. Goodnight planted his wild plum trees in the 1800's," Hoskins said.

Hoskins said his crew also have planted 8 honeysuckle shrubs in the park and plans to plant some 30 more of the sweet smelling plants before the week is out.

He said that his crew has planted about as many trees and shrubs as they can water for this year.

"If these trees are successful, then next year we plan to double the plantings we've made this year," Hoskins said.

Hoskins said the park rangers are also improving the camping and picnic facilities in the park, especially in Cottonwood Grove, a favored picnic area.

"We are building new picnic fire grills made of fire brick with a natural stone facing," he said. Eroded areas in the picnic and camping areas are being filled with dirt and gravel and parking areas set aside in the picnic areas so that picnickers can eat their suppers in peace, according to Hoskins.

"The way it was before, the picnickers had to put up with heavy car traffic through the picnic area with cars driving right by the tables. The dust and flying dirt made eating a chore and the children couldn't run and play in the picnic areas for fear of getting hit by passing cars," Hoskins said.

Hoskins said the new restricted parking lets people park their cars and eat their food in peace. "The parking area is for cars and the picnic area is for picnickers," he said.

Park manager Buddy Hoskins fills in some of the dirt and gravel he uses to set out shade trees in the park. Hoskins and his crew have

Prairie Wildlife

FISHING AND CONSERVATION

Windy this week—plenty so. Lots of folks braved the twenty and thirty mile an hour breezes to fish and boat on Buffalo Lake but few caught anything. Lots of fun though.

March 28—remember that date -- its on a Thursday -- and that's the time of the Randall County Wild Game Supper to be held we don't know just where. The club's organization committee will have met Wednesday afternoon to decide. Wednesday afternoon is too late to get the results in this issue of the Prairie Wildlife but the full details will be in next week's paper.

The game supper will feature bar-b-que and roasted antelope, deer, goose and duck -- might even have some Kansas pheasant in the pot.

There will be no charge for the supper, but the good food will only be served to members of the sportsman club who show their membership cards. Men, women and kids are eligible to join the club—but you have to have a membership card. They are obtainable from L.J. Witkowski or from Jim Thomas at the Canyon News. $1.50 for adult memberships and $0.50 for juniors.

The supper might be held at the big outdoor bar-b-que pit in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park or in town. To be announced later. Let Jim Thomas know ahead of time if you plan to attend so he can plan the food.

Prime time at the supper will be an official meeting of the Randall County Sportsman's Club with election of officers. Sportsmen who want action on local hunting and fishing -- or the lack of it -- discuss ahead of time among yourselves who would be a good slate of officers. March 28 is the time to nominate and vote for them.

If the sportsman's club fails to go over and remains merely a social organization -- it will be because the sportsmen of the area failed to elect good leadership. The club will fail without good, active sportsmen.

at its head.

Sportsmen who have the drive, time and desire to make it work. They should be ready willing and able to travel to Austin as representatives of the Sportsmen of the Panhandle.

Come prepared to elect a good set of officers. If they do a good job, the county sportsmen will get better fishing and hunting out of the deal. If they are poor, the sportsmen get a good game supper.

We didn't go after any eagles, ducks or geese this week with the camera—kind of laid low around the old homestead. We do have a two day pack trip down Palo Duro Canyon slated for one of the coming weekends. Hope to mosey along and get some good wildlife shots. Might even come across a Barbary sheep or four. Hope so.

The ducks and the geese are mostly all gone from the scene. They've headed for cooler climates. Lots of folks don't know it, but Buffalo Lake is one of the biggest waterfowl refuges on the North American continent.

Texas Game and Fish Commission biologists recently calculated that the ducks and geese at Buffalo deposit 15 tons of droppings per day in the lake during peak periods of population. Calculated at one ounce per bird per day with 500,000 birds, the 15 ton estimate is really conservative. That's a lot of fertilizer. No wonder Buffalo Lake is so good for crappie. Too good.

Don't miss that game supper. No sir.

Bands Slate Annual Spring Concert Here

Canyon junior and senior high school bands will combine talents Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Canyon High School auditorium for the annual Spring Band Concert.

Admission will be $1.00 for adults and $0.50 for students. Tickets can be purchased from band members or at the door of the auditorium the afternoon of the concert.

The program includes Concert March, Aura Lee, The Little Scotch Suite and Ballad performed by the junior high band.

The senior high band will perform Totem Pole March, Moon River, Lilt of the Latin Samba, Prelude in Fugue in G Minor by Bach, Spiritual from Symphony Number Five and One Half, the march, Sol Y Sombra and Themes from Symphony Number Six by Tchaikovsky.

Feature performance for the concert will be a clarinet solo by Roy Durden, woodwind instructor and assistant conductor of the West Texas State College Band.

Durden will play a number entitled Clarinet Royale.

The Spring Concert by the combined bands will be the second concert of the year for the high school band and the first appearance of the year for the junior high school band.

The next public performance of the high school band will be May 12 at 3 p.m. in the Canyon High School Auditorium.

Lee Boyd Montgomery, director of bands for the Canyon Public School System said, "This promises to be one of the finest performances the bands have given this year and we would certainly like to have as many folks as can come to the performance."

AROUND THE TOWN (with kids)

Gene Morrison and I had our 10th birthday parties together, February 25. We invited around twenty-five kids. We went out to the City Club and went on a hike.

Our theme was war and when we got to the clubhouse we got our hamburgers and ate. For a centerpiece we had a German war helmet. And for favors we had little Army men attached to compasses.

After we ate we were more excited than ever because then we were going to open our presents. We got so much we haven't quite found out where to put it all yet.

The Student Council members have their rooms assigned to them to read the speeches about desk care. They have read them to their assigned rooms and we think that we ought to get

You would be surprised at the number of drug and medical supplies that can be of a deductible nature—items such as antiseptics, aspirin, cough and cold preparations, and hundreds of others.

Indeed, the American taxpayer has been losing millions of dollars annually because he hasn't been aware of how many drug items are legally deductible.

But you must be able to offer proof of purchase in order to claim such items in preparing your federal income tax return. And when you buy from us, you get that proof—in the form of an annual record, mailed in February.

Come in today and let us tell you more about DrugTax. And from now on, buy all of your drug and medical supplies from the store that gives you the free DrugTax record.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:
Of course I am happy to enclose my check for your paper. We look forward each week to getting this news of "home." Particularly because we have been so busy this year that we did not even send Christmas cards, let us take this opportunity of greeting our friends and giving some information that various ones would like to have.

First of all, Tom was one of only five students who made the honor roll both nine weeks (we are on a nine weeks' rather than six weeks' grading period) of the first semester and was the only freshman to do so. He made all A's except a B in shop.

Norman won in his weight division in a wrestling tournament, and he now thinks he is capable of winning the world's heavyweight championship! He was also the only sixth grader who made it to the finals in the county free throw contest, but he did very badly the last night. Already he is looking forward to next year's contest.

Stephen played quarterback on the high school squad that

Through the courtesy of a friend a trade magazine published by the Humble Company recently fell into my hands. As would be expected it is a highly scientific publication — so scientific that I had to read the feature article four times to understand its message.

I am sure most people would get its substance more easily than I did because I never did study science very much and have had little occasion to keep up with its kaleidoscopic development in the last few decades.

The article with which this column is concerned today is a commencement address last year before the graduating class of Rice University. The speaker was a former Hungarian M.D. and Ph.D. who is a naturalized American citizen since 1947, but whose name is unpronounceable. A bio-chemist he has been a University professor, has won a Nobel Prize for medicine, received the Lasker Award from the American Heart Association, and other honors.

A man of such distinction unquestionably is worth listening to. Limitations of space, no less than limitations of my intelligence, forbid my giving you in substantial detail the many informative and amazing things he says. I shall confine myself to a few quotations.

In a brief review of the history of science the speaker makes the following concluding statements:
"Man is a newcomer, a stranger in this world. He has become master of superhuman forces and speeds, but at the same time, carries in his mind his ancestral heritage of rapacity, lust for power, hatred and distrust and short-range selfishness. He acquired, simultaneously, the ability to create an undreamed of wealth, happiness and dignity for everyone, as well as the ability to destroy himself, and damage his genetic material, guarded by nature for millions of years.---At present we are in a deadly race between education and suicide, with the latter far ahead.

To stay alive we would need entirely new human relations, political structures and thinking."

Following the above, the speaker enters into a discussion of technology which I had always thought of as a by-product of science. The speaker calls them twin brothers, but says: "Technology has a more profound influence on human history than science. The main events of the distant past are not the wars and glory of conquerors, but the discovery of the first simple tools, the discovery of the needle and the wheel, the discovery of iron, steel, copper, and its alloys.---

"As you all know, Robert Fulton, who constructed the first steamship, offered his invention to Napoleon. Had Napoleon listened to Fulton he would have beaten the British fleet, conquered England and political history would have taken a different course.---

"The fusion of science and technology seems to be complete in our period of modern science where technology is almost entirely dependent on the progress of basic knowledge, which makes the future of any leading nation dependent on its progress in basic research.---

"Research going on in my own laboratory gives me the hope that we will have, soon in hand, a new hormone which has a dominating influence in that desired state called youth, which we all would like to see prolonged. This research may also yield up a substance which might enable us to cope with cancer.---

"We actually, are already on the way to a carefree, elevated and dignified form of human life.---While in the past, man's main worry was how to provide the food needed for his maintenance, our main worry, today, is to keep our waistlines within bounds, and our difficulty in less in producing than in storing (See HILLTOP, Page 3)

School board election officials are looking for the biggest turnout in the history of the school district for the April 6 school board election.

This is fine. We think a little controversy can even be good for a community if it's kept on a high plane.

Where people actually disagree on how things should be done and express themselves and then vote, the cause of freedom is served. Gossip is the thing to which we object most.

A term we have learned to despise over almost a score of years of newspapering is "they say." An old editor of ours in days gone by implanted in our mind with no uncertainty that "they" can say anything.

When a story you hear has "they say" for authority, its truth can bear checking. And we believe that if the people know the untarnished truth, it will make them free.

Glenn L. Fitts, a student from West Texas State, was by the office this week talking about the way the flag is displayed on campus.

He suggested that a detachment from the Reserve Officers Training Corps be assigned to raise and lower the flag. ROTC boys raise the flag and stand as honor guard at football games and do a fine job of it.

Glenn says he is a retired Air Force captain, having left the service last July. He believes that respect for the flag is one of the first things children should be taught.

He thinks it is of prime importance to teach respect for the flag to budding young officers whose job it will be to defend the flag.

We can't help being amused when we watch our neighbor to the south playing at newspapering. H. M. Baggerly devotes most of his Tulsa Herald to politics while local news goes begging.

Baggerly devotes columns to condemnation of Wes Izzard, who incidentally is one of the best newspapermen alive today, while folks in Tulsa wonder what goes on at city hall.

There's really no way for Tulsa people to know what the governing bodies of the community like the school board, (See FROM, Page 3)

KEEPING UP WITH THE ARTS

Mary Caballero

Most paintings catch the eye if they have a luminous quality. There are many different ways of achieving this effect, but I will only mention a few of the familiar ones.

One of the techniques that you probably find hard to identify is the encaustic painting. It is not used as often as some of the other methods.

Cave artists probably used animal fat and bone marrow to make their earth pigments stick. Greece was first to use beeswax as a pigment carrier. This medium preceded oil and is now called encaustic. Turpentine and heat are used to make the wax more pliant. One can paint in this fashion with nothing more than a heating unit, a muffle pan, blow torch, and a palette knife. The wax gives a beautiful transparent effect. Candles and crayons, combined, give a similar effect when dripped on a painting surface.

Oil has been used as a medium for 300 years. Auto lacquers have been used by artists for about 20 years. This medium is a cellulose acetate and dries very quickly, but its fumes are somewhat toxic. White glue can be mixed with dry color, water color, or tempera. On drying it forms a permanent surface. Casein, a milk-derived polymer in suspension, is good but it is more readily dissolved and gives a somewhat dead appearance to the pigment when dry.

Egg tempera, now in eclipse, had its start during the medieval period, found wide acceptance during the Renaissance, and has been almost totally neglected since 1600. The yolk of the egg is a very good adhesive and produces excellent transparent films. Egg white, a colloidal solution of albumen, was used in manuscript illumination. Water color media use gum arabic, glycerine, and glucose. Water colors and dyes are very transparent and high in luminosity.

In fresco painting, pigments are dissolved in water and applied to wet lime plaster. Fine examples of fresco painting from around 1600 B.C. have been found on the island of Crete. Fresco is the method of Giotto, Francesca, and Orozco in mural painting.

The psychologist's word brightness refers to the luminosity of color. The manner in which the pigments are used determines whether light can get to surface and out again or whether the light is absorbed. Earth colors, yellow-browns, red-browns, and ambers—have coarser grains in most sets or lines of pigments. These grains quickly clog up the working surface, and light is absorbed by the pigment. An opaque matte surface results, with luminosity lost. In application, luminosity may be lost by piling one layer of paint on another until light is absorbed.

In practice the designer is always seeking the best compromise available. When he needs the power of dark, he may sacrifice luminosity. If you are familiar with the luminosity of the Renaissance paintings, you will discover that in this period, the use of transparent glazing was a method used by all the masters. Rembrandt and others were able to keep shadows dark but with color and luminosity. The glazing technique is probably the most important step in attaining a true oil painting. Without glazing, an oil painting can be a very flat and uninspiring piece of work.

the city council or commissioners' court, are doing. Baggerly doesn't tell them.

Baggerly told us a few months back that he never covers school board, city council or commissioners' court because the news he would obtain from so doing just wouldn't be worth his while.

The administration is again defending "managed" news a la Bay of Pigs. It comes out now that the United States was indeed deeply committed to the fiasco and the people of this country were not told the truth.

It now is well established that air support was promised and not given, that National Guard fliers were pressed into the service as well as several other Americans who believed they were serving their country.

It has been brought out in the past few days that ships of the American fleet, bristling with aircraft, were committed to the struggle and never used.

This makes somewhat of a prevaricator out of our own Governor John Connally who told this reporter in front of 500 other weekly newsmen of this state that he didn't know anything about what happened at the Bay of Pigs.

John Connally was secretary of the Navy at the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion in the spring of 1961. Theoretically he was in charge of the US Navy at that time.

If John Connally spoke the truth of his part in the disaster involving ships under his authority, then the state of Texas has a moron in the governor's mansion.

If Jack or Bobby or Teddy tells it, it's managed news in "national interest." If you or I told it in court under oath, it would be a conserved lie and we'd wind up in the pen for perjury.

the food in our bursting silos.

"The greatest problem of the future is not how to produce the elementary necessities of life but what to do with all our spare time, how to create beauty and knowledge to lift our existence to undreamt levels of culture and happiness. What we have already achieved far outstrikes the most fantastic dreams of the past. We have eradicated the epidemics, our wives can look forward to great happiness in bearing children,---. It is true, that all this is only the privilege of a smaller fraction of mankind, but there is no reason why all this should not become the common property of man, and why any human should go sick or hungry.

But, "the greatest enemy of man is still unconquered. This is no longer, viruses, bacteria or hunger, but man himself, man's short sightedness, narrow partisanship, hatred, and distrust. Man, with his ingenuity, found means in high energy radiation to damage his own genetic material which nature has preserved for him through millions of years with such utmost care. Man has found means to wipe himself off the face of his rapidly shrinking globe at the price of untold suffering. We confront here, however, no longer a problem of medicine but of morality.

It is the problem of developing a spirit of wider human brotherhood with a corresponding political structure."

Plank Boys' Ranch Gift Really Was Lot Of Bull

Randall County agent John Brazzil tells a little story about E. E. Plank out of Umbarger way and Plank's more than big Holstein steer.

In early 1960 Mr. Plank bought a Holstein bull calf from a local dairy and carried it home in the trunk of his car.

Plank turned the little calf out with his other cattle and watched it grow. It kept growing and growing—and growing until the calf, now a steer, began to attract attention from Plank's neighbors. The steer also began to lead Plank's other cattle around the pasture as though it were the leader.

In the fall of 1962, Plank decided to give the steer to Boy's Ranch for their use in their mess hall.

Plank put the steer on a truck and had it weighed. The now grown steer weighed in at 1520 pounds at the age of 33 months.

Plank took the steer to a commercial feed lot near Hereford where it stayed for 93 days. When Plank took the steer out of the feed lot to carry it to Boys' Ranch, the steer weighed 2020 pounds. He had gained 5 pounds a day while in the feed lot.

Plank hauled the steer to the ranch where the boys slaughtered it for beef. That's a lot of bull.

C. E. King Is Claimed By Death

Clyde Edward King, 74 years old, died at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home at 1800 Second Avenue in Canyon.

He had lived here for the past 18 years having moved to Canyon from Happy. He moved to Happy in 1919. He was a retired farmer and member of Canyon First Baptist Church.

He was born Oct. 8, 1888, in Parker County.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in LaGrone Funeral Chapel. Officiating will be Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery.

Survivors include the wife, Sally, Canyon; two sons, Elmo and Lindell, both of Canyon; and two brothers, Ray of Reno; and Cleo of Grassland.

put out March 2.

Four grass fires on March 3 sent the firemen to 1805 8th Avenue in Canyon, to the Charlie Davenport farm, 8 miles southwest of Canyon, 2 miles south of Canyon near the old Albert Brown farm and 2 miles southwest of Canyon to the Karl Williams farm.

Another grass fire one mile east of Canyon on the Dr. Nester farm, destroyed 15 acres of grass and nearly got to the farm buildings before city firemen could stop it.

A car fire Friday night, March 8, called the firemen to 2 miles north of McCormack Road on the Canyon-Amarillo Expressway.

A fast moving grassfire, 2 miles west of Umbarger burned some 80 acres of pasture. A stiff 30 mile an hour wind blew the flames from the Santa Fe Railroad right-of-way south until a water-filled draw and the effort of the firemen stopped its progress.

A few more feet would have carried the fire to the tall grasslands of the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge where it would have been difficult to stop.

Fire chief Bill Sternberg said that if the fire had not stopped at the draw it would have burned all the way through the Walter Graham pasture lands which extend six or seven miles to the south.

Another grass fire Sunday morning added to the busy schedule of the city firemen. This one started by the Santa Fe Railroad tracks north of Canyon off Rockwell Road and spread north all the way to the south city limits of Amarillo.

The Amarillo city fire department got in on the fire fighting and managed to save several new houses that were in danger of being destroyed by the right-of-way fire.

The fire fighters just about got the blaze under control when the Santa Fe sent another train through.

The firemen fought four other fires Sunday afternoon, including the big one 2 miles north of Bushland. High winds made the job doubly difficult and dangerous.

The Canyon fire department has answered 14 fire calls since January 1 along the Santa Fe right-of-way. The county pays the city $100 per county fire call.

ment must be made before water service can be extended by the city. It is provided in a city ordinance. The commission instructed York to carry out the provisions of the ordinance.

Lair advised the commission that a portion of the ordinance should be recorded at the county court house in such a manner that it could become a part of the abstract of any property affected.

Official hearing was held on the city's proposed budget of $382,372 budget for the year ending March 31, 1964. There was no one present for the hearing.

The tax rate was set at $1.50 per hundred with assessed valuation at half the market value.

City Manager York and Arch Davis, public works superintendent, recommended purchase of a Dempster Dumpster trash collection system for the business area of the city.

The commission authorized the advertising for bids for a truck, hoist and 26 containers for adoption of the system.

Sheep Bill Becomes Law

Governor Connally allowed the Barbary Sheep bill to become law last week without his signature.

The bill puts the newly introduced Palo Duro Canyon sheep under the same game rules and regulations as other game animals in the Panhandle.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Andy Rogers of Childress. Game biologists feel that more information on the success of the transplanted game animal should be gathered before a public hunt is started. A premature hunt for the big sheep could ruin their adaptation to the rugged Palo Duro Canyon, where they were transplanted from New Mexico.

A return match with the Greyhounds of Eastern New Mexico at Portales is billed for April 30 before the large-scale Pikes Peak Intercollegiate Tournament at Colorado Spring, Colo., in the season finale for the Buff linksmen.

No Charges Are Filed On Youths

Ten Canyon youngsters have agreed to make restitution of merchandise alleged to have been taken in "dare" shoplifting sprees in Amarillo.

Jack Deavers of the Amarillo Police Department said no charges would be filed.

He said the boys involved will make restitution to several merchants from whose places of business the merchandise was taken. He said the boys must personally return the merchandise and apologize.

Deavers said the only extremely expensive items taken in the spree were some bucket seats valued at some $400. He said these were hidden in a culvert near Tucumcari, N. M.

The seats since have disappeared from the culvert. Deavers said that if the seats are not found, the boys responsible must pay for them.

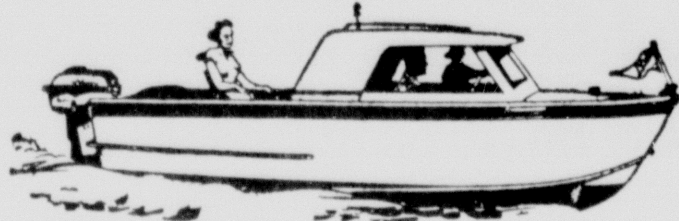

Deavers said the boys involved in the shoplifting spree got into trouble principally over taking merchandise on dares to prove their bravery to companions.

Leis and pineapple name tags were presented to members and guests as they entered the gala decorated hall. The Hawaiian feast included salads, relishes, tidbits, and an assortment of Hawaiian punches centered on a large table covered with fishnets draped at the corners with glass baubles and sea shells.

Artificial flowers and fruits were placed in a large shell for the main centerpiece. The large luau banquet table was set on long grass mats with white orchids and leaves centered on it. A Hawaiian scene, painted by one of the sorority members, served as the backdrop.

Hawaiian background music made the relaxed atmosphere of the island come alive with guests dressed in muumuis, hula skirts, sarongs, and shorts for the event.

Miss Betty Sue Patterson was voted "Best Dressed Islander" by the delegation, and her prize was a straw bag filled with aids for a trip to the islands and a luau.

"Orange Ankles" and Password were games enjoyed by the group.

Springs Supply Sweet Water In Canyon Park

Of all the places in the Texas panhandle that water may be found, one of the most abundant sources in the Palo Duro Canyon where water may be found in many locations by drilling relatively shallow wells or by tapping the many springs in the lower part of the canyon.

Chief complaint about Palo Duro Canyon water is its high mineral content.

The Texas State Parks, last year, while searching for an adequate water supply for the new restroom and camping area in the bottom of the 15,000 acre Palo Duro Canyon State Park, drilled a well through the Permian red beds of the canyon and got plenty of water. But it was really hard water.

The mineral content, mostly magnesium salts, was tested out to be some 800 to 900 parts per million—pretty hard water.

What the parks board didn't take advantage of was a series of soft water springs high up on the side of the canyon rim that poured forth large amounts of the sweetest drinking water in the Panhandle.

Coming out of water bearing sands some 120 feet below the rim of the Canyon, the springs were developed in the 1930's by the CCC people who built the park.

Construction workers hauled cement, gravel, structural steel and galvanized pipe up a twisting mule trail to the side of the formation and built two large retaining tanks to collect the spring water as it flowed from the formation.

A steel pipe led from the two 40 gallon collecting tanks down the slope to a level place where another, but larger tank was built. This tank holds approximately 3100 gallons and has a head of some 600 feet over its out-let at the floor of the canyon.

Galvanized 2 inch pipe leads from the giant holding tank down the slope of the canyon, across a bridge and within a few hundred feet of the newly dug well.

Time has taken its toll on the pipe, for in places it has broken and rusted away. The concrete tanks, however, are still in good shape, all holding water and not leaking.

Park manager Buddy Hoskins said he has applied in his 1963-64 park budget for money to repair the pipeline and insure the strength and safety of the cliffside holding tanks.

The water could easily be piped to all parts of the new camping area and could easily be used in the new restroom where it would benefit the maintenance of the fixtures.

The presently used hard water from the well caused the fixtures to stop up. They must be dismantled and cleaned periodically to keep them in working condition. The water from the well is not considered drinkable by a long shot, though many people who camp out in the canyon prefer to drink the "gyp" water rather than travel the 7 miles to the park entrance for softer water.

The spring water is sweet. The springs that come out of the gravel sands were known before settlers came to the Panhandle, too.

The Indians who used the canyon as a winter retreat and source of game and fire wood knew enough to find the juniper and cottonwood trees along the slopes of the canyon. The Indians knew the trees marked the site of good drinking water.

Many of the important paleo-Indian sites in the Panhandle are located around these springs.

Archeologists say the Indians would camp on the rim above the springs where they had a good view of the country side and would send their wives down to the springs below to gather water for their camping needs.

The remains of these early Indian campsites were still numerous in the early 1930's when the park was built, but have since been pretty well picked clean by pot hunters and collectors.

The springs make an interesting goal for hikers in the big Panhandle park. The view from the side of the canyon wall is magnificent.

New Band Director Is Named At West Texas

President James P. Cornette has announced that a new director of bands has been appointed, effective Sept. 1, to succeed Dr. Ted J. Crager at West Texas State College.

Dr. Crager will devote full time to his administrative duties as chairman of the department of music.

The new director is Gary T. Garner, Director of the Trojan Band of the University of Southern California since 1959, and formerly of Amarillo and Lubbock.

A native West Texan and a graduate of Amarillo High School, Garner is presently completing residence requirements for his Doctor of Musical Arts degree at USC, where he earned the Master of Music degree. He holds the B.S. degree from Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

Garner taught for five years in the Lubbock public schools, having served as assistant director of bands under Dr. Crager at Monterey High School and later as director of bands at Monterey before going to USC. He was also assistant leader of the 514th Air Force Band.

An accomplished flutist, Garner formerly played with the Amarillo Symphony and the Lubbock Symphony, and has had experience with numerous professional stage, radio, and television musical organizations. A respected clinician with marching, concert, and stage bands, Garner will serve as the marching clinician for the annual meeting of the Texas Bandmaster's Association in San Antonio in August.

Garner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garner, 300 South Forrest in Amarillo. His wife is the former Mariellen Griffin of Plainview. The Garners have two sons, Bradley, 7 and Brian, 4.

Garner is a member of the Music Educators National Conference, Southern California School Band and Orchestra Association, Phi Beta Mu, national bandmaster's fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity, Phi Kappa Lambda, national music society, and Blue Key, national men's service organization.

Rodeo Events Next Sunday

In addition to a jackpot bareback riding contest there will be a grudge match potato race between Randall County Sheriff Slim Johnston and Earl Reynolds, "Deputy of the western slopes of Palo Duro Canyon." This grudge match is the first to be staged in this area.

Narrating the afternoon's events will be Bill Clifford with stock furnished by Ratjen Rodeo Co., of Happy.

Adult admission will be 50¢ with children under 12 admitted free. Clark Jarnagin is the president of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse.

Mr. and Mrs. George de-Schweinitz and Mrs. T. V. Reeves spent the week end in Dixon, New Mexico at the Presbyterian mission.

Churches in the Amarillo and Canyon area support the mission with clothes and funds. Known as the "scenic poorhouse" the mission has been established about 50 years in the region and helps Anglo-Americans and Indians who are in need.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Nicholl this week were Mrs. Maymie Emery of St. Paul, Minnesota; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grabinski of Waterloo, Iowa.

Community Concert Artist Is Lauded

"The best we've heard here," "An outstanding pianist," "He played brilliantly."

These were some of the comments about David Bar-Illan, 33-year-old Israeliite who performed in Canyon High School auditorium Thursday evening.

Bar-Illan was presented by Canyon Community Concert Association, the second of three programs on schedule this season. He was the first guest artist to play on the recently-acquired grand piano in the high school, and he praised it as the "best I've ever heard. You're very lucky to have such an instrument." He autographed the piano.

With hands that are insured for $100,000, the dashing pianist thrilled the small, though, emphatic audience, with each number. A band-aid on his third finger, left hand, proved no obstruction whatsoever.

This was not the first trip to the Panhandle for the piano genius, though he remarked the weather was much more favorable this time. He played in Pampa two seasons ago.

Bar-Illan is married to an American from Twin Falls, Idaho. She is foods editor for a nationally-famous magazine. They have two children: four-year-old Daniela and four-month-old Jeremy. Does Daniela play piano, too?

"Oh, no!" Bar-Illan quips. "When I'm at home nobody plays but me!"

Following is a review of the performance from George Eason, instructor in music at WTSC:

"Those who attended the Community Concert March 7 heard a varied program of romantic and modern piano music played with great vitality. David Bar-Illan, a native of Israel, began his program with a scintillating rendition of Mendelssohn's Rondo Capriccioso.

This was followed by Schubert's Wanderer Fantasy. Mr. Bar-Illan's technique met admirably the great demands of this expansive and melodious work.

Some of the most interesting music of the evening was heard in a suite sub-titled "My Native Land" by the pianist's fellow countryman, Paul Ben-Haim. An oriental quality which pervaded the work was especially evident in the plaintive slow movements.

With the last movement, based on the "Hora," the national folk dance of Israel, Bar-Illan brought the first half of his program to a brilliant and exciting close.

One of the most striking features of the pianist's playing was his feeling for vivid contrasts; he certainly made the most of this in the Prokofiev Sonata No. 3--from the lyric simplicity of the middle section to the violent, driving rhythms of the Allegro tempestuoso.

The rest of the program was devoted to the music of Chopin. Some of the most poetic pianism of the evening was heard in the Nocturne in D flat. Five études were then performed with verve and seemingly boundless energy.

An unfortunate tendency toward excess speed and over-peddaling was evident, however. A powerful performance of the Scherzo in C sharp minor ended the program.

Mr. Bar-Illan graciously returned to play two encores, Chopin's Valse in C sharp minor and Fireworks by Debussy.

Final program to be presented this season by the Canyon Community Concert Association will be given by the Fine Arts Quartet Monday, April 1, in the high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

Jackson Circle Meets Tuesday

The Dub Jackson Circle met with Mrs. S. L. Terry Tuesday afternoon.

"Missions Around the World" was a program presented by W. C. Duke, Robert Henry and Jerry Hester, from the Baptist Student Union at West Texas State College.

Summer mission work of the Baptist Student Union was explained as many of the students will work in foreign countries while others will work in the western states. Students make a lot of their own funds for the mission work by washing windows, house cleaning, washing cars and yard work.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames R. A. Hodges, Charles Burkett, A. M. Cunningham, Jack Barnard, J. H. Barrett, Earl J. Davis, T. S. Stevenson, J. C. McClendon, Lonnie Byars and S. L. Terry.

The next meeting will be hosted by Mrs. J. H. Barrett next Tuesday afternoon.

Visiting with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Nester recently was his mother, Mrs. C. W. Nester of Palacios.

Canyon Man's Relative Dies

Funeral services were held last week at McLean for Mrs. Emily Minix, 103 years old, great-grandmother of Bennie Cooper.

Cooper served as one of the pallbearers.

Mrs. Minix had been a member of the Baptist Church since she was a little girl. In 1951, Baptists of District 10 named her "Mother of the Year." She was devoted to Bible reading and had read it through 136 times.

Mrs. Minix made two plane trips to Alaska at the ages of 90 and 97 to visit her son, B. I. Carpenter, who was a missionary there.

A native of Missouri, Mrs. Minix moved to Coleman in a covered wagon with her family when she was 15 years old.

She is survived by four children, 24 grandchildren, 80 great-grandchildren and 33 great-great-grandchildren.

Tour Acceptance Good For Band

Dr. Ted Crager, chairman of the West Texas State College Music Department and director of bands said the WT band has received standing ovations and very warm reception during their annual concert tour.

Dr. Crager said the band performed for more than 8000 people during the tour which took them to Clovis, New Mexico; Lubbock, Texas; Odessa, Sweetwater and Lamesa.

Plans Made For Cancer Crusade

The American Cancer Society has designated 1963 as the "Year of the Volunteer" and the local drive for funds will begin the last week in March and continue throughout April.

Cancer will strike one in every four persons. A health checkup every year is the best protection against cancer though some cancer can be treated by surgery and radiation combined with drugs.

Ralph Edwards, television producer, is the National Chairman of the American Cancer Society's 1963 Crusade.

Clark Murff, field representative for the cancer society, will speak at a meeting next Thursday where plans for the local drive will be discussed. Local personnel in the drive will be Huelyn Laycock, crusade chairman; John Brazzil, rural; Pauline Brigham, house to house drive; Paige Carruth and Ray Musgrave, college drive; Dr. Ruth Lowes, chairman of the advance gifts; Bill Taylor, business district; George Dowlen, legacies; and James Cole, memorials.

Funds will be used in research and cancer control programs. Cancer does not designate its victims, they come from the rich to poor, old people and children. Support your Cancer Society and help to find cures and call a halt to this serious disease.
